Dear FCC,

I am writing to you regarding K-LOVE radio in Rocklin, CA, which broadcasts via FM translators all over the nation. I understand that you are considering allowing LPFM broadcast service, which would affect K-LOVE's ability to continue to broadcast via these translators, and I'd like to tell you what K-LOVE means to me.

I have been a financial supporter and listener of K-LOVE for four years. There are no other stations that play Christian music in my area, which is why K-LOVE is so special to me. I benefit from this station in so many ways, such as being able to hear uplifting and family-friendly music that's commercial free 24 hours a day, being able to listen via the internet, and being able to know that I'm supporting a station that employs pastors and counselors who can reach out to people who need help and encouragement in their lives.

If K-LOVE were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster that provides other programming, so many communities would suffer. These communities would lose a station that believes in family-friendly programming and positive messages that work to bring people together and bring hope to those who lack hope. They would lose a powerful resource for counsel with difficult situations, such as divorce, abuse, addiction, hunger, and others. These communities would also lose a broadcaster that cares about being a positive influence in our nation and world, by providing listeners with information on how they can get involved in programs to correspond with military personnel overseas, give to the hungry, give blood to the Red Cross, and much more.

As you can see, I believe that the service K-LOVE provides is in the public interest. I ask you to please consider the value that this broadcaster provides to so many. Please continue to protect the FM broadcasters, such as K-LOVE. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Catherine Griesbach
